

TEXAS[®]

A unit of American Electric Power

February 3, 2014

Subject: IMPORTANT NOTICE to All Residential Standard Offer Program Project Sponsors – Technical Reference Manual has replaced Deemed Savings Appendix

In December 2013, the Public Utility Commission of Texas approved the first Texas Technical Reference Manual (TRM) for use in the 2014 programs. The TRM replaces the Deemed Savings document that was previously referenced in the program manuals as the source for savings values used in the programs.

The 2014 Residential Standard Offer Program Manual has been revised and replaced with Version 1.1, and is available for download on the program website. Effective immediately, Version 1.1 should be replaced with the original version of the 2014 program manual. The revised manual also includes references to the now-required Field Notes Form and the change in the requirement for duct leakage testing.

A link to the TRM has been added to the Downloads/Tools page of the Residential and Hard-to-Reach program websites.

Sincerely,
AEP Texas North Company